

The Climate Leadership Program Workshop For A Better, Greener, Smarter Toward Resilient City

Background

Climate change is a global phenomenon that requires local or city acts is one of the most serious environmental challenges facing the world today where Cities are the most vulnerable to the negative impacts that its caused the high growth rate, land-use change, reduces open space, and ineffective government. It should be anticipated from many aspects, however he anticipation is characterized by uncertainties, complexity and conflicting interests. The complexity of the climate change impacts at one hand, and conflict of interest at the other hand where leaders are the key role players to solve for a better management and for a greener, smarter toward resilient city.

Leaders from all over the world are challenged to: collaborate across traditional boundaries; anticipate future trends and associated risks and opportunities; strengthen their leadership competencies and mindsets; develop a systemic understanding of causes and effects of climate change and its relation to sustainable development, and to facilitate transformational changes and innovative action within their organizations and networks.

Program Objective

The Objective of the program are to anticipate future climate risks as well as opportunities and to cultivate a new more collaborative leadership at many levels, with global values and responsibilities for a more adaptive initiatives and improved and sustainable resiliencies

Leaders from stakeholders of the Cities will make use of their strengthened leadership competencies to build cross-sectoral networks, initiate transformational changes at individual, organizational and network levels and develop innovative prototypes.

This Climate Leadership Program will use a range of approaches such U Theory, Scenario Planning and Design Thinking which enable collective transformational leadership, holistic understanding and innovative ideas, for example, creating a collection of social innovations action and a Leaders Network for virtual collaboration

Participants

The Climate Leadership Program is designed for decision-makers and leaders at many levels who are working in the context of climate change with and in government. They will meet committed actors engaged in making a difference by initiating changes towards low carbon cities, resilient cities and a sustainable future.

The main activities will contain 3 serial workshops:

The 1st workshop (2017) will focus on Leadership and City management under climate change impacts, which will include topic overview, process and introduction to relevant instruments and sharing experiences in running individual and collective leadership.

The 2nd workshop (2018) will focus on building vision of future city management and leadership development, which will contain: collective action, multi-stakeholders dialogue, future city management, reflection into a prototype idea

The 3rd workshop (2018) will be about prototyping by the built CLP network (through stages: sensing journey, shadowing, innovation action and virtual collaboration)
