CityNet hosts seminar to discuss heritage and tourism

More than 150 delegates from Asia-Pacific region are in Lalitpur for the event.

ANUP OJHA
LALITPUR, NOV 6

CityNet, a network of organisations in the Asia Pacific region that are working towards sustainable development, on Wednesday began a three-day seminar in Lalitpur aiming to promote heritage and sustainable tourism and address challenges in heritage conservation and climate change.

The seminar, which will also be mulling over issues such as disaster risk reduction and infrastructure development, is being held at the premises of the Lalitpur Metropolitan City.

Inaugurating the seminar, after a heritage walk from Patan Dhoka to Patan Durbar Square which saw cultural processions and dances from Newari communities, Vice President Nanda Bahadur Pun said that such events hold great value in preparing for 'Visit Nepal Year 2020', under which the government is aiming to bring in to the country some two million tourists.

"I am overwhelmed to know that more than 150 representatives from various cities representing 10 countries of Asia Pacific region have gathered in Lalitpur. I am very thankful to Lalitpur Metropolitan City for organising such a grand event," said Pun.

The representatives are scheduled to take part in a heritage walk in Bungmati on Thursday. The city is well known for wood carvings and was severely damaged by the 2015 earthquake.

The 38th executive committee meeting of CityNet aims to promote Nepal's tourism worldwide through 88 foreign delegates, including 14 mayors and heads of various international organisations besides 43 local representatives from Nepal.

Speaking at a press meet on Wednesday, Vijay Jagannathan, secretary-general of CityNet, elaborated on how the member countries and municipalities can work together to preserve their tangible and intangible heritage which are under risk. "If you reduce the number of vehicles and air pollution, this will help to make a liveable city. We, as an organisation, want to educate and give an orientation of our members so that they take leadership and work for change in different sectors in the region," said Jagannathan.

Founded in 1987, CityNet is a network of 135 municipalities, NGOs and private companies.

Talking to the Post, Lalitpur's Mayor Chiri Babu Maharjan said that organising such a seminar is a significant breakthrough. "Our metropolitan city was involved with CityNet for the past two decades, but from last year we became an executive member of CityNet, and thus were able to bring the delegates here," Maharjan added.

Talking about the significance of connecting with CityNet, he said the city has trained many engineers post 2015 and has started teaching an online course in community schools in all 29 wards besides forming disaster risk reduction centres in all wards to reduce socio-economic vulnerabilities to disaster.

He further said the city is all set to prevent two- and four-wheeled vehicles from entering the Patan area which is an 'open museum' and a heritage site.

Asia-Pacific mayors vow to work for sustainable, resilient cities

ADITI BARAL
KATHMANDU, Nov 6

Mayors of over a dozen metropolitan cities of the Asia Pacific region have vowed to work together in the field of sustainable urban development. They made a pledge to work together to establish more sustainable and resilient cities during the International Seminar on Heritage and Sustainable Tourism that kicked off in Lalitpur on Wednesday.

The seminar organized alongside the 38th executive committee meeting of CityNet is being attended by 88 foreign delegates including 14 mayors.

Vice President Nanda Bahadur Pun inaugurated the seminar amid a special function held at Patan Durbar Square. He said that CityNet—an organization of municipalities in Asia Pacific region together with other stakeholders working in the field of sustainable urban development—can play a greater role in making the cities of Nepal more standard and smart.

With the collaboration of 135 municipalities, NGOs, private companies and research centers and working with the support of international bodies like UNESCAP, UNDO and UN Habitat, CityNet is recognized as the largest network of cities that collaboratively work hand in hand in the sector of sustainable and resilient development of cities.

Since the last three decades, the organization has successfully worked for promotion of exchange in knowledge and practices, combating global climate change and disaster resilience, advancing urban issues on the global sustainability agenda and has been shaping the largest network of urban stakeholders across the Asia Pacific region.

Lalitpur Metropolitan City was elected as CityNet executive committee member last year in a convention held in Sri Lanka.

"Our membership as executive committee member of this organization has been helping Nepalese cities to connect with other cities and stakeholders in order to discuss about the urban issues that we are facing," said Lalitpur's Mayor Chiri Babu Maharjan.

Impressions of the CityNet Meet 2019

Secretary General of CityNet Mr. Vijaya Jagannathan was very pleased the way the meeting was organized in Nepal in a very impressive manner. We started with pre-excom yesterday to discuss internal issues of CityNet secretariat and we are working at membership termination, new members, Mayor Chiri Babu Maharjan was elected as Vice Chair of the meeting.

We organize such meetings every year to share with executive members and also to plan ahead of next year's program. Each time one city is a host city and we focus a lot on issues of that city. In the case of Lalitpur, the Mayor's interest was that Nepal's 2020 Tourism year is coming, how can Lalitpur help in achieving the 2 million tourists coming in, to have a good experience, what is the kind of advise which CityNet can give and also to get feed back.

We also took a tour of cultural heritage, we were shown what is happening in the city and the money received from the government and the World Bank were well spent. What we saw was quite impressive with huge amount of efforts and most of the works have benefitted the public. We found many of the buildings have been upgraded and converting then into small boutique hotels and restaurants and so on.

The impression I got out of all this is that a lot has been done in terms of improving pavements of the roads, putting in the drains, getting the tanks and ponds in better shape. And once you start doing that the theory of urbanization is if you put public infrastructure, private people will also help to improve because the value of private property goes up. They can make more money on selling their services. We see that happening. Of course there are issues that some of the very old buildings which are part of the heritage, families after 2-3 generations don't want to keep it like that they want to sell it. That is the problem in all cultural heritage sites. How to balance between something very beautiful and cultural heritage which the owner wants to sell for money and does not want to stay in a very old building, while visiting foreign tourists would love to see them. That is the kind of problem we saw here also. The second thing is the increasing vehicular traffic creating congestion and pollution. It is bad for people specially the children. This definitely hurts tourism, because they spend lot less time if the area is too much congested. So, it hurts the income source.

My suggestion to the Mayor was why not use social media to involve young people, let them start saying no traffic zone in certain areas like cultural heritage sites. We carry a very positive impression because ultimately you have get the public supporting your ideas as they are getting some benefit out of it. Our suggestions is to have the lot of ponds and lakes as water is the integral part of city culture.

बैठक र अन्तराष्ट्रिय सेमिनार ललितपुर महानगरका लागि गौरव र खुशी दुवै

- चिरीबाबु महर्जन, प्रमुख, ललितपुर महानगरपालिका

ललितपुर महानगरपालिकाको लागि सिटीनेटको ३८ औं कार्यसमिति बैठक र सम्पदा र दिगो पर्यटन विषयक अन्तराष्ट्रिय सेमिनार आयोजना गर्न पाउनु गर्वको कुरा हो । ललितपुर महानगरपालिकाले सिटीनेटको कार्यसमिति सदस्यमा अधिल्लो वर्ष निर्वाचित भएको हो ।

सिटीनेटसँगको आवद्धताले ललितपुर महानगरपालिकाले उपलब्धि हासिल गरेको छ । प्रकोप न्युनिकरणका उपायहरू र केही स्रोत साधनमा महानगरले सहयोग पाएको छ । ललितपुरका केही विद्यालय र त्यहाँका शिक्षक र विद्यार्थीमा प्राविधिक क्षमता विकासका लागि कम्प्युटरको सहयोग प्राप्त भएको छ ।

सवैभन्दा महत्वपूर्ण कुरा त के हो भने, एसिया प्रशान्त क्षेत्रका सहरहरूबीचको समस्यामा हामी एकैसाथ छलफल गर्ने अवसर प्राप्त भएको छ । सिटीनेटको सदस्यता पाउनु समस्या समाधानका लागि छलफल गर्दै, त्यसको समाधानका लागि सामुहिक तवरबाट काम गर्ने अवसर समेत हो ।

३८ औं कार्यसमितिको बैठकले २ नगरपालिकाहरूले यसको सदस्यता प्राप्त गरेका छन् । यस अघि नेपालका १४ वटा नगरपालिका सिटीनेटमा आवद्ध थिए ।

नेपाल भ्रमण वर्ष २०२०को डेढ महिना अघि आयोजना भएको यो बैठक र अन्तराष्ट्रिय सेमिनारले नेपाल सरकार लक्ष्य अनुसार पर्यटक भित्र्याउन सहयोग गर्ने अपेक्षा गरेको छु । यस अर्थमा पनि यो कार्यक्रम महत्वपूर्ण रहे को छ । अन्तराष्ट्रिय जगतमा बुद्धको देश, सगरमाथाको देश भनेर चिनिएको नेपाललाई कला,संस्कृति र सम्पदाले सम्पन्न ललितपुरको देश भनेर समेत चिनाउन यो कार्यक्रम कोशेढुगा सावित हुने विश्वास छ ।

Mayor of Lalitpur Metropolitan City (LMC) Mr. Chiri Babu Maharjan feels glorious and happy to host the CityNet Executive Committee meeting and International Seminar in Lalitpur. LMC was elected as executive committee member of CityNet last year.

The membership has helped to minimize disaster relief measures. Technical capability of many schools in the district has been upgraded with computer based education. The most important benefit is the common platform in Asia Pacific region where common problems can be shared and problems solved.

Two more municipalities of Nepal have gained CityNet membership this year, thus increasing the number to 14 municipalities of Nepal affiliated to CityNet. I believe the CityNet meeting and international seminar on Heritage & Sustainable Tourism will greatly help Nepal's Visit Nepal Year 2020. This event will help expose Nepal as a birthplace of Lord Buddha, a country of Sagarmatha the Mount Everest and the heritages of Lalitpur: a city of Fine Arts.
